COMMERCE CHAMBER
ELECTS DIRECTORS.Two Resignations Accepted and Vacancies Filled at Meeting.

BUSINESS FOR CONNELLVILLE

Is Promised Under the Indian Creek Valley Schedule and Merchants Will Go After That Trade—Much Interest in Organization.

The annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce was held last evening and seven, instead of five, directors were elected. This was made necessary by the resignations of L. P. Ruth and R. Marietta, who had filed but one year of their office.

Numerous things last evening were the cause of keeping quite a few members from attending the meeting, but as a whole the election was spirited. On motion of P. Bufano, E. R. Floto was elected chairman of the meeting after which the resignation of Mr. Ruth as First Vice-President, Director and member, and that of Mr. Marietta as Director and member were accepted. In the resignations received by Secretary J. Fred Kurz, which are to take effect immediately, no mention of any reason for leaving for their action is stated.

The election was then taken up. J. R. Davidson and Harry Cook were appointed tellers and instructions given to vote for seven men, the first five receiving the highest vote, to fill the five year term of office and the next two highest, the unexpired terms of Mr. Ruth and Mr. Marietta. By request the name of W. N. Leche was withdrawn from the list of nominees. Though he would like very much to serve, Mr. Leche stated he could not give the office the attention it requires.

Three ballots were necessary owing to ties in the votes. On the first following directors to serve five years were elected: P. Bufano, J. R. Davidson, J. W. McGowan, W. D. McGowan and F. W. Wright.

The rest of the votes were tied for the two year terms and on the second ballot Burgess J. L. Evans was elected. Owing to a second tie it was necessary to take the third ballot which resulted in the election of Harry Dunn.

Sam F. Hood of the Indian Creek Valley railroad was present to remind the members of the Chamber of the new schedule which goes into effect on that road December 15 and will be kept up until the 21st. It was Mr. Hood's opinion that with a little advising the Connellville merchants could divert the trade that is now going in the direction of Mt. Pleasant, a distance of about 15 miles over the pike. He said that the farmers who now drive that distance to do their marketing and shopping would be more than willing to come down to the city of Fayetteville in a stream heated coach and in about one-third or one-fourth of the time it takes to drive into Westmoreland county.

Hood's idea met with approval and Secretary Kurz inquired as to when the new schedule would be made permanent. In reply it was stated that this would be held up until such a time as four houses can be erected at Jones' Mills for the accommodation of the employees who will operate the tunnel.

Mr. Hood said he was very sorry that the work could not have been completed this summer, but stated that plans are completed for two of the houses and the material will be put on the ground as soon as the weather permits. It is likely that they will be erected in the spring. Following the completion of the dwellings, it is the intention to operate four trains daily, both round trips starting from Jones' Mills. The trains will then lay over at that end of the line instead of Indian Creek as at present.

"I think this proposition will be as good to Connellville as a manufacturing concern," voiced Mr. Hood.

Come to Join Man
Who was Murdered

Special to The Courier.
PITTSBURGH, Dec. 2.—Vlata Sokolowsky, widow of Harry Sokolowsky, the Russian peddler murdered near Mt. Pleasant on November 2, arrived in Uniontown last night from Russia, accompanied by her four year old son. The woman did not know of her husband's death and confidently expected him to meet her. She has not yet been told of her husband's untimely end.

Edward Whelan is in jail charged with the murder.

No Change Noted.
At noon today there was little change in the condition of Chas. Stillwagon, who has been confined to his home in Fayette street for the past several weeks.

Mrs. Glover Foils
Defense Attorney

United Press Telegram.
CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Dec. 2.—Showing the same cleverness that she exhibited yesterday in her mercurious cross examination by the attorney for the defense, Mrs. William M. Glover, widow of the man for whose murder Hattie LeBlanc, the 17 year old Canadian girl is now undergoing trial, resumed the witness stand today and was again subjected to a rapid fire of questions from Attorney Johnson.

The witness was questioned closely regarding testimony she had given at the trial. Johnson finally disclosed Mrs. Glover with the statement that she would probably recall her. He evidently got but little satisfaction from her testimony.

Mrs. George A. Freeman of Auburnville then took the stand and testified as to her friendship for the Glover family.

BLUE BLOOD BOILS

Warrant for Steel Magnate Today Throws First Light on Domestic Troubles of Chicago Countess and Promises a Sensation.

CHICAGO, Dec. 2.—Tired, he says, of being beaten up by his millionaire father-in-law, M. H. Killgallen and Killgallen's retainers every time he encountered them, Count Jacques Alexander von Mourik de Beaufort today struck back with a warrant for the arrest of the steel magnate.

The Beaufort's action, which came after he was dismissed in court following an encounter with Killgallen's chauffeur, was the result of one of the long series of "beatings" which have made the blue de Beaufort blood boil and incidentally have made certain portions of the Delawarean anatomy pretty sore.

Killgallen, de Beaufort asserted, obtained the warrant, investigated De Beaufort into his private office October 21 and there tried to induce him by offer of a large sum of money to leave Chicago for parts unknown, or in fact any other parts.

"I told my wife, the Countess de Beaufort," de Beaufort says he replied, "and I shall not leave Chicago while she lies ill in a hospital. I want to see her. I do not want your money."

Upon this, he declared, Killgallen "smashed him in the face." Today's warrant is the first inkling of this peculiar assault.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Dec. 2.—Seven hundred Druses have been slain in a battle with Turkish troops at Hauran, Syria, south of the Damascus, according to dispatches received here today. Despite the heavy slaughter, the main body of the Druses is still holding out and another fierce encounter is expected.

President Taft
Changes Message

United Press Telegram.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—Although his annual message has been completed, President Taft today decided upon a change in its form. It is the President's idea that some of the information contained in the message could be an appendix. With this idea in mind he has cut a dozen pages from the message and rewritten it into an additional statement.

Now that the message is off his hands the President expects to devote himself to conferences with representatives and Senators.

Diplomacy—Formerly a Reporter.

United Press Telegram.

ORANGE, N. J., Dec. 2.—Judge James Brooks Dill, often referred to as the "father of trusts," died at his home here today. He was for many years the most prominent corporation lawyer in New Jersey and framed the articles of incorporation of many of the big combinations organized under the protection of the State laws.

His income was estimated at $300,000 a year. The corporation that Judge Dill personally organized in this State had a total capital exceeding $700,000,000.

For organizing the United States Steel Corporation he received a fee said to have been $1,000,000. He came into this case as the result of a fight between Andrew Carnegie, Henry C. Frick and their associates in 1900 and through his diplomacy brought the warring elements together.

His book, "Dill on New Jersey Corporations," is the chief authority on corporation law in the country. In his younger days, when he was a newspaper reporter, he covered the Molly Maguire riots at Wilkes-Barre. A train on which he was riding was blown up and Dill was one of four men who escaped death or serious injury as a result.

His story of the wreck was a "scoop" and a bonus of $250 given him for it was used to complete his law studies. He survived by his widow, who was Miss Mary P. Hessel, of Philadelphia, and three daughters.

M. J. Roland Not Bad Financially

In the haste of covering the Haas tragedy yesterday The Courier inadvertently stated that Andrew Haas returned to the Haas Hotel two years ago to protect his financial interests in the property following the retirement of M. J. Roland, who had purchased the property more than a year before.

Mr. Haas' return to the hotel was in no way due to any financial troubles of M. J. Roland, who conducted the business profitably but found it necessary, for private reasons, to retire from the hotel business at that time.

That Mr. Roland was not financially embarrassed at the time is shown by the fact that he was able to retire in favor of Mr. Haas with a handsome financial margin as the result of his proprietorship in the Water street establishment. The statement yesterday was made without intentionally injuring Mr. Roland and was based on the information which was misinterpreted.

With Live Wire;
Curious Accident

Special to The Courier.
SMITHFIELD, Dec. 2.—Richard Lowe, of York Run, was the victim of a peculiar accident while hunting, which might have resulted in serious injury, or perhaps, fatality.

He was out near Gilmore a few days ago and, while passing under a wire, the muzzle of his gun came in contact with a very live wire. Lowe was knocked several feet away and received a severe shock.

Mr. Lowe was in the borough yesterday, with his hands swathed in bandages, and related the story of his narrow escape from electrocution.

It does not know how many volts were conveyed, but believes there were enough in action to kill under ordinary circumstances.

Walking Boss is Fatally Injured

Special to The Courier.
SOMERSET, Dec. 2.—Patrick Durkin, a walking boss employed by the Eyre-Shoemaker Contracting Company on their operations at Husband, three miles from Somerset, was fatally injured Wednesday afternoon by a huge piece of frozen clay dislodging from the side of an embankment and striking him. He was given medical attention at once, but will not likely recover, having sustained broken ribs, a broken arm, and internal injuries as well as having been badly crushed about the body.

Durkin was preparing to light, seven tons of coal along the side of an excavation and was in a stooping position, when without warning a mass of frozen clay weighing nearly a ton toppled from the excavation immediately above him and crushed him under it.

Durkin is of Irish extraction, is about 10 years old and unmarried, and has been employed by the Eyre-Shoemaker Contracting Company of Philadelphia for a number of years.

The Eyre-Shoemaker firm is the concern who secured the contract for constructing the new lines of the R. & O. in Somerset county, and now has large forces of men working at Husband and Milford Station.

United Press Telegram.

SOMERSET, Pa., Dec. 2.—Through a confession before Justice of the Peace Knable of Somerset by Giuseppe Sacco, an Italian-minor of Summit, Pa., a cloud of mystery has been dispelled from one of the numerous murders which have recently been committed in the vicinity of the Shaw mines of the Consolidated Coal Company.

Sacco says he killed Giuseppe Polito, a fellow countryman, last July, but asserts that he acted in self defense. In support of his allegation that he was attacked by Polito, he hours out upon his face which are said to indicate a fight at close range. Sacco states that he was the dead man's friend and loaned him money to bring his wife to this country. But Polito was ungrateful, it seems, and became angry when Sacco demanded repayment of the money. Sacco says that he and Polito met on the path leading to Sacco's home and fought until Polito forfeited his life.

When his antagonist attacked him with a large knife, Sacco says he shot several times, killing him in self defense. He furnished $1,000 bail for his appearance in criminal court next week, security being given by J. H. Minn.

United Press Telegram.
LOUISVILLE, Ky., Dec. 2.—Joseph Wendling, charged with the murder of little nine year old Alma Kellner, today resumed the witness stand in his own defense. In his direct examination Wendling, speaking in broken English, detailed his coming to America, his employment in Louisville, and his duties around St. John's church.

He denied any knowledge of the murder of the girl and said he thought the blood on his clothes when he shot himself and that the blood on the knife came when his brother-in-law used it to trim his horse's hoof. On his direct testimony he was unimpaired and calm. He frequently laughed. He denied the damning remarks attributed to him by Detective Burke and Carney, who arrested him in San Francisco.

in the East.

The depth attained by the snow along the ridges in the mountains was surprising to many people. In Springfield township in the neighborhood of the Indian Creek Valley railroad the "beautiful" drifted to some extent and was from four to five feet in depth. But it was found that the fall in the mountains was eight inches over night, quite a difference from three inches in the Connellsville region. It is said that on the level in the mountains it was two feet deep.

The McFarland Lumber Company has been forced to close down as they are unable to get lumber from the woods. They had only 1,200 feet on hand at Rogers' Mills and state that they will be completely tied up until a thaw comes. The same condition exists at the mills at Davistown, six miles above Rogers' Mills.

Only one drift delayed the trains on the Indian Creek Valley railroad yesterday and this was hardly of any consequence.

As was expected, the Baltimore & Ohio schedule went to the bid over night. The Duquesne Limited was two hours late arriving this morning, this time having been lost between Washington and Philadelphia. Delays caused by the storm held up some trains on the Connellsville division but by tonight the company expects to be running regular again.

Travelers from New York city yesterday were one of the most pleasant days they have experienced there this fall. The sun was shining throughout the entire day and everyone was wearing light clothing.

Double Wedding
in Burlesque Show

United Press Telegram.
WILKES-BARRE, Dec. 2.—Four actors and actresses were given marriage licenses here today for a unique double wedding that will take place on the stage of the Lazerne theatre in this city tomorrow night.

A license was issued to Joseph Landon, Jr., and Miss Hazel Langley. Both gave their residences as Philadelphia. Another license was issued to F. E. Beck of Chicago and Nellie McGowan of Philadelphia. The four young people are members of the "Merry Maidens" burlesque company now playing in this city.

The marriage will be performed by Rev. D. W. Fletcher on the stage of the theatre after the performance.

He was given a sentence of six months in the county jail. Others of the indicted election officers and outsiders who became involved in the case it is reported, also propose to enter pleas when the cases are called next Monday. They hope to get off with either suspended sentences or the payment of fines.

Tale of Mrs. Moore

United Press Telegram.
VINCENNES, Ind., Dec. 2.—Pale and trembling and apparently broken in spirit Mrs. Menlo Moore took the witness stand today in the trial of her husband for the murder of Charles E. Gibson, the millionaire oil operator. She sobbed out the sordid story of her relations with the man her husband shot to death on October 2.

Her confession was what counsel for the defendant had outlined and covered the confession she made to her husband which is said to have caused the shooting. She told how she had first met Gibson, how he induced her to accompany him to a barn on the plea of trapping her husband with another woman, and of an alleged assault on her there.

Frequently Mrs. Moore was unable to proceed with her story, shrinking from the curious crowds that jammed the court room.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—A thrilling romance entitled "The Chauffeur and the Heiress," is regaling the attention of social Washington today and somewhere in the north. At Saunders, formerly chauffeur for Miss Blanche Malone, and his erstwhile employer are enjoying the honeymoon. They have been honeymooning since October 29, but Washington and Fairmont, W. Va., the bride's home, just learned of it today.

Miss Malone attended the fashionable Mt. Vernon Seminary. Last summer at Fairmont she met the new chauffeur whom her mother had engaged for her. It was a case of love at first sight and Saunders, when Miss Malone returned to school, resigned his job and followed her. He was introduced by Miss Malone to the teachers at the seminary. On October 29 they took an early morning train for Baltimore and were married there. Today the family of Miss Malone, one of the loveliest in West Virginia, have received cards announcing the ceremony.

The girls at Mount Vernon Seminary are very much put out because they were not taken into the secret and because all chauffeurs are now regarded with dark suspicion by members of the faculty.

KEYSTONE PLANT
NOW OPERATING.It Is Expected to Go on Double Turn After January First.

STARTED AHEAD OF SCHEDULE

First Welded Tubes Were Finished on November 29 and Since That Time
Output Has Increased Four Times
Amount of First Run.

The Keystone Tube Mill's plant which has been under construction since last June was put in operation last Tuesday.

Prior to that time work on the new plant had been pushed so that the machinery could be put in motion by December first. The efforts were successful and two days before the scheduled time the plant was put in actual operation. The Siemens regenerative gas furnace had been fired for several weeks and for about ten days previous to the 29th some of the machinery and equipment had been in operation as far as to get it in good working order and running smoothly.

A very satisfactory product was turned out the first day, the 29th, and on the second day the output was doubled. On the third day they again doubled, thereby turning out four times as much material as on the first day.

By next Monday it is expected that the men will be thoroughly broken in on their new duties. There will arrive several experienced pipe welders and the plant will thereafter run ten hours a day up until January first when it is proposed to run continuously except Sundays. To put this idea in operation it will be necessary to have a ten hour and a twelve hour crew. These will alternate so that one crew will work day one week and night the next. Each will be allowed one hour for lunch.

By January first the company expects to have in operation its electric welding department. The plant, however, will not be actually completed for the next two years.

At present there are about 40 men employed at the plant, but this number will be gradually increased as additional equipment is added. Many new pieces of machinery are under construction at the present time for the Keystone people and will begin arriving next week.

The Keystone Tube Company is incorporated under the laws of Delaware and is capitalized at $300,000. I. W. Bollinger of Connellsville is president of the concern and F. C. Perrot of the same city, Vice President. The treasurer is Col. J. E. McNary, while B. L. Sisco is secretary, both residing in Pittsburgh. The new plant is located at Wheeler, just above Connellsville and enjoys an exceptionally good shipping facilities being located on the three trunk lines, the Baltimore & Ohio, Pennsylvania and the New York Central lines.

Yesterday afternoon fifteen business men and capitalists of Pittsburgh, underwritten by local stockholders interested in the Keystone Tube Works, inspected new tube mill and saw it in operation. They returned to Pittsburgh at 8:00 o'clock.

After spending an hour at the company's plant watching the manufacture of welded tubing, being shown the different details of making a finished tube, and looking over the company's property at Wheeler, the visitors returned to the company's Connellsville office for an informal talk concerning the welfare, prospects and contemplated extension. At 4:30 they had a dinner at the Royal Hotel.

The party comprised the following gentlemen:

John J. Darr, Treasurer, Metropolitan Trust Company; Henry J. Sacco, Crocker-Wheeler Electric Company; Frank E. Gil, President, Standard Steel Company; W. J. Friday, President, W. J. Friday & Company; Charles C. Tennis, President, Tennis Construction Company; John M. Short of the Garland Corporation; C. F. Sacco, Treasurer, Independent Building Company; H. L. Sisco, of C. E. Sisco & Sons Real Estate; W. N. Klein, Jr., J. Seifert, H. J. Friday, W. A. Herrick, Guardian Trust Company; I. W. Bollinger, President, Keystone Tube Works; J. E. McNary, Treasurer, Keystone Tube Works; Harry Nuttall, Superintendent of Keystone Tube Works.

President, Worth Kilpatrick and I. Fred Kurz of the Chamber of Commerce, were invited to dine and meet these gentlemen. Owing to the illness of Mr. Kilpatrick he was unable to be present. Secretary Kurz, however, was present and expressed Mr. Kilpatrick's regrets.

FAYETTE COUNTY AND THE NEW APPOINTMENT.

The census reports were not satisfactory to Conneltsville, but they are probably so to Fayette county and Pennsylvania.

The State shows an increase of 21% in population and the county runs up 167,000 population, sufficient to insure the establishment of the important office of County Controller and to add to our representation in the Legislature.

Pennsylvania also gains six Congressmen. This is an interesting announcement to the people and the politicians, since it means that the Congressional district of which Fayette is a part will be curtailed as to territorial boundaries, and it is possible that the county will become a Congressional as well as a Senatorial district. It is certain that at least one county in the present district will be dropped off.

Fayette county will have a lively concern in the coming apportionment bill. She will likewise have a forceful representation in the Senate and the House to look after her interests, thanks to her freedom from the epidemic of Political Unrest, which swept over some of the neighboring counties reducing their influence in the councils of government to nil.

THE ROMANCE AND TRAGEDY OF THE COURTS.

Love and passion are sometimes sadly mixed in the everyday affairs of Fayette county.

A month ago a Russian peddler was murdered near McClellandtown and robbed of his pitiful possessions. A young man charged with the crime was arrested at the home of his sweetheart at Fairchance and committed to jail charged with the crime. He will be put on trial for his life next week.

Last night the wife of the victim arrived in Uniontown with her little four-year-old boy from Russia expecting to meet and greet after a long separation a loving husband, only to be told that she is a widow, her husband dead and buried, gone from her sight forever, her child an orphan, both her self and the boy strangers in a strange land, thrown suddenly and violently upon the mercies of an uncharitable world.

The sweet reason she looked for proved to be misery and bitterness. She arrived only in time to learn of her husband's untimely end and possibly to have the unprofitable satisfaction of seeing his murderer punished.

We say possibly for the reason that it is not for us to pass upon the guilt or innocence of the accused and we do not desire to prejudge his case before the jury. Behind him, too, stands suffering womanhood. A girl who loves him waits with anxious heart the outcome of his trial.

The administration of justice is not always as dry as the dusty lawbooks. It is alternated with romance and tragedy.

Candidate Berry reports that his anonymous contributions got mixed up with his other money, but that he did not use any of the anonymous money to promote his campaign, and that he stands ready to give it to some worthy charity. This is a striking example of refined manner.

Despair and Despondency

No one but a woman can tell the story of the suffering, the despair, and the despondency endured by women who carry a daily burden of ill-health and pain because of disorders and derangements of the delicate and important organs that are distinctly feminine. The tortures so bravely endured completely upset the nerves if long continued. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a positive cure for weakness and disease of the feminine organism.

IT MAKES WEAK WOMEN STRONG, SICK WOMEN WELL.

It allays inflammation, heals ulceration and soothes pain. It tones and builds up the nerves. It fits for wifehood and motherhood. Honest medicine dealers sell it, and have nothing to urge upon you as "just as good."

It is non-secret, non-alcoholic and has a record of forty years of cures. They probably know of some of its many cures. If you want a book that tells all about woman's diseases, and how to cure them at home, send 21 one-cent stamps to Dr. Pierce to pay cost of mailing only, and he will send you a free copy of his great thousand-page illustrated Common Sense Medical Adviser—revised, up-to-date edition, in paper covers, in handsome cloth-binding, 31 stamps. Queen Quality and Boston Favorites

QUESTIONS ASKED

A great many inquiries have been made as to what "Boston Favorites" are.

The answer is they are the same as Queen Quality. You get the same shoe, same styles, same leathers, and made by the same people at the same old prices.

"Boston Favorites" include shoes sold for $2.50 and $3.00. Queen Quality include shoes sold for $3.50 and $4. All made by the Thos. G. Plant Co., Boston.

WE WANT YOU TO LOOK THEM OVER and notice the quality and style we show you in these shoes at $2.50, $3, $3.50 and $4. There are no better to be had and nine out of ten times not nearly so good. Come in and see them.

Coffee Donated Free. The coffee used at the Chamber of Commerce banquet was donated free of charge by the distributors. It was Satisfaction Coffee and certainly satisfied the most critical taste. Not only was the coffee supplied free, but a lunch was sent out from Pittsburgh to prepare it properly. The result was "satisfaction," as the name implies.

Orrine Cured Him of DRUNKENNESS

Her Husband Now spends His Evenings at Home.

She bought Orrine from the druggist in her home town—she bought it after reading the Orrine Free Booklet. In the booklet she read of the wonderful cures of drunkenness which were accomplished by the use of Orrine. On page ten of the booklet she read the liberal guarantee to refund all money paid for Orrine if it failed to effect a cure. After reading the booklet she became convinced that Orrine was a remedy of unusual merit. She decided to purchase it and cure her husband of drunkenness. Orrine cured him. Now he is a happy wife in a happy home. Orrine helped to rebuild the home. Read the following letter from Walter R. Schindler Co., General Agents, Rapids, Mich.

"For a number of years we have been agents for Orrine. During that time we have had occasion to be convinced beyond a doubt that Orrine is a reliable remedy, worthy of recommendation. One of the many cases coming to our attention is a man who had taken a full year's treatment for over 15 years, was induced to try Orrine, a complete cure being the result. The man became worth more to his firm, receiving an advance in pay, and has purchased a home. The house stands there showing the merits of Orrine. We can not help but feel that we were most fortunate when we secured the agent for this reliable liquor cure. Orrine costs only $1 a box. The guarantee is in each box. Write for Free Orrine Booklet mailed in plain sealed envelope to Orrine Co., 118, Orrine Building, Washington, D. C. Orrine is for sale in this city at Dr. Barker's Pharmacy, 120 South Pittsburgh street. We know Orrine is a reliable and effective remedy for drunkenness and they will not offer you a substitute."

If You Buy a Piano From Us You Are Assured of a Square Deal

We have something substantial to offer the person who buys a piano from us; and that something is "everything" that has during the past 25 years contributed towards building up this, the largest piano business in America.

This big business HAS TAKEN WORK. It has been steeped in progressiveness. We have been willing to sell at a SMALLER PROFIT than the "other fellow."

Our customers' wishes have been our pleasure—always.

We have built broadly—liberally—substantially. We have sold "close"—watched our expenses and worked. We have paid the price for the success we enjoy, and you and the six to seven thousand persons who, every year, buy pianos from us get the benefit of it.

Inasmuch as buying a piano, means an outlay of quite a sum of money—you owe it to yourself to look well into the house from which you intend to buy.

Suppose you investigate U.S. ASK YOUR BANKER. Ask anyone who is in a position to know. See if we haven't something "SUBSTANTIAL" to offer you.

SAVING MONEY.

If more people knew how the first two or three entries in the Savings Bank Book help and stimulate the owner to make additions thereto, less people would be caught out in the wet when the proverbial "Rainy Day" comes.

Have you a savings account? Why not start one with us? A few dollars—then add to it—and watch it grow.

We pay 4% on Savings, with very liberal rules for withdrawals.

MISS SELINA LUE

and the Soapbox Babies

by MARIE THOMPSON DAVIES

Illustrations by MARGUS G. KOTTER

COPYRIGHT 1909, THE DOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY

"Couldn't you do nothing with him?" asked Miss Selina Lue with interest. "You have to make allowances for young men-folks, looks like they're young men-folks, goes to they heads. Where did he break out?"

Miss Selina Lue seated herself on the top of the soapbox, keeping a watchful eye on the children who stood as close as possible to the red maroon and discussed its wonders in the highest pitched voices at their command. As usual, her sympathetic and interested way had its effect irresistibly inviting confidence.

"In a most unexpected—headed—new—left me and the business to go to the dogs and went trailing off after moonshine—d'you hear—moonshine!"

"Well, now, I expect he thought you could take mighty good care of yourself and the business, too; you seem so strong for any age at all," said Miss Selina Lue soothingly.

The old gentleman drew himself up in his chair and looked quite rejuvenated by the mention of his obvious youthful ness.

"Oh, I could pull the business through well enough, but it was his travelling for moonshine nonsense—d'you hear?—moonshine nonsense!"

"Well, things do happen strange in this world, and it looks like they can't nobody weigh out anybody else's peaks for 'em. Boys and fathers lots of lines don't want to bite often the same slice of life." Miss Selina Lue eyes had a far-away look in them and she spoke very softly.

"But what's a man to do? Build a great business and have a son come along and scorn it—d'you hear?"

"It might be that what a man thought was great, the son do do life would look like small potatoes to his son. I certainly am sorrowful for you about being so disappointed in your boy, and hurting at it is to me to talk about it, I want to tell you about how it was with Adoniram and Elder Millspaugh, for maybe it will help you to get comfort." Miss Selina

Lue paused as if the talk had too great for her, then looked at the old gentleman gently and began again to speak.

"You see, Elder spoke Adoniram out in meeting and asked for prayers for him 'cause he wouldn't take to the farm he had worked all his life to leave to him. You know, like a plow

Adoniram a pain, and farm chores set heavy on him all over. After his father spoke him out and all the Tain

Creek Circuit elders and brethren got to stopping, when they met him, to exhort, Adoniram—lit out and it was many a day fore they seen him again.

I had the little boy's hair ring he made me and faith enough to hold him up anywhere. Lads alive, but it was funny when everybody went to the meeting-house to hear him speak when he come home! He had done studied and found out all about rocks and things and was in the government

'emperor, and he had come home to tell all the neighbors that maybe they had a fortune in phosphate right under their potato-patches and orchards.

All of them was wheeling of him and the Squire calling him our leading citizen. 'It do seem strange how some folks will order out the music for they boys after they have done at the hard job and don't need no cheering on, instead of starting

'em out on the road of life with a little whooping up. It's then they needs

it. I am mighty glad I've got that night at the meeting-house to look back on, for he was blown up by the first rock crusher that was set going."

The old gentleman looked nearer than ever, but the tips of his white mustache trembled and he drew his breath together as if in pain. "It's an ungrateful pig head," he muttered, but a good part of the explosiveness was gone from his tone.

"Oh, maybe he ain't now," said Miss Selina Lue persuasively. "There's the case of Mr. Alan and his father—the poor old man's pretty nigh broke his son's heart and he's acting for all the world like you say your boy is, pig-headed. But we excuse him."

"Mr. Alan?" The old gentleman sat up, but Miss Selina Lue failed to notice the spark in his eyes.

"Yes, that's a young man artist I've got boarding here with me. His name is Kent, but he is just such friends with everybody on the bluff that we all call him by his first name.

His father is a big rich man, but it seems like with all his money he can't afford to let his son be happy and do the world good by painting beautiful pictures that are a regular call to goodness for anybody as soon as 'em. He never said a word about his troubles, but Miss Evelyn Branch told us about it, for she got acquainted with him last winter some place she went. The poor boy grieves so over his father that I feel I could do just anything to help make 'em up. I've been painting some beautiful pictures to go in a hall for workmen to see how beautiful work can be painted about, and he hopes his father will see 'em and maybe forgive him for painting. I never close my eyes at night without making it a subject of prayer to soften that old man's heart." Miss Selina Lue's voice was deep with emotion and her eyes shone with tears.

"Did he say his father was a hard-headed, old pig-head?" asked the old gentleman fiercely.

"No, indeed; he never!" exclaimed Miss Selina Lue hastily. "You don't know Mr. Alan. Why, he's just that tender and good that you would know he loved his father hard. But how his father could not know him enough to trust him to do his man's work in the world, I don't see. Looks like a man must think his own life have been a grand success if he goes to addressing of his son's."

"And this Mr. Alan—or—or—you say he lives here? Been here long?"

"Long enough to get into the good feeling of every man, woman, child and puppy on the bluff, and to get Miss Cynthia to loving him enough to marry him as soon as he finishes the pictures and gets paid for 'em, which she wouldn't wait for, but he thinks they better."

"Married!" the old gentleman exploded the word and lay back in the chair and fanned himself with the palm-leaf fan Miss Selina Lue had handed him when he came.

"Yes, Mr. Jackson. Pages a daughter, and a blessed angel of light she is, too pretty and stylish for any use it's just one of the most beautiful and happiest things in the world, if it wasn't for the mortgage and the father."

"Mortgage—father?"

"It ain't his father's mortgage, it's Miss Jackson Page's, and she ain't resigned about selling her home to the Golf Club. Poor Miss Cynthia has to spend all this love-time of her life expounding of her—me to be contented. I am one that holds that contentment oughter be taught early in life—with a peach-tree switch if need be. The poor child is all drug out with worrying, and it nearly kills Mr. Alan not to be able to help her none."

The old man's face in the night with me a talking and nothing but what to do to keep it from being sold Saturday."

"Well, where is this young man, may I ask? I would like—er—to see him—er where is he—d'you hear?—where is he?"

"Lemme see?" Miss Selina Lue said. "He's out sketching, but I have plumb forgot where they said they would be. But he'll be coming back in a little while now, and I want you to stay and have dinner with us and get a chance to talk to him and maybe see his pictures, too. Just pot-luck, if you don't mind. I would admire to have you. Maybe like I have seen you before somewhere, your face have such a friendly favor, and here I've been telling you family affairs like I had known you all my life."

"I thank you, madam! It will be a pleasure to accept your hospitality—d'you hear?—a great pleasure!" And the old man's face in the night with me a talking and nothing but what to do to keep it from being sold Saturday."

"Say, mister," she ventured, "do a automobile feel like flying in the air? Bonnie says it ain't no better than a 'lectric but a 'lectric is hitched down top and bottom and it don't look so free."

"Now, mister, I said I knowed it was stylish, but I bet it can't go no faster," said Bonnie, anxious to be quoted correctly.

"Well, I tell you what we will do," said the old gentleman with a delightful smile as he patted Ethel's little hand. "There comes Wilkins and we soon as he fixes things up we will all take a little spin up the road before dinner, and you can decide for yourself how near it comes to flying. May I have the pleasure of your company, madam—d'you hear?—that great pleasure?"

"Oh, please, Miss Selina Lue, oh, please!" came in a chorus from every small mouth, and excitement reigned.

"Well, it do look like I oughtn't to let my skinner keep the children from such a educating thing as a automobile ride, which they never will maybe get again. Thank you kindly, mister. And you can get 'em all in, do you think?" They three were in the back of the grocery what you have seen, and I will have to pick up young Jim Peters for his mother have gone to town, and I promised to listen across the street for him to wake up."

"Oh, yes, Miss Selina Lue, you can pack in all the little ones, and me and Sam Tyron and Ethel Stand and Lucien can hang on behind," urged Bonnie with dancing eyes.

RED CROSS SEALS WILL BE ON SALE.

Connellsville Has Always Responded Freely to the Call.

THIRD YEAR OF THE FIGHT

Being Waged Against Tuberculosis by Funds Raised Through the Sale of the Seals—Ideas Originated in Denmark by Jacob Rila

Since the Red Cross seals have been for sale anywhere they have been for sale in Connellsville. This is the third year of their being in universal use and the hope of the Charity Committee of the Chamber of Commerce is that this will be the best year yet for the sale. About 15,000,000 were sold in the past two years at the Christmas time.

This little one cent seal is a sign of good will. The money gotten from its sale is used in fighting tuberculosis. Every seal means but in this fight against the White Plague, it should be put on the backs of letters and all packages that are sent out at the Christmas time. These stamps do not carry mail, but any kind of mail will carry the stamps.

"The Christmas Stamp" was first suggested by Jacob Rila who got the idea from Denmark. He published an article about it. The Little State of Delaware was the first to take it up. The cause was a deserving one. It meant fighting a dread disease, it meant breaking up the American Red Cross Association which is organized to help the cause of humanity anywhere, in any crisis of war, famine, pestilence, or public disaster. To day all through the United States there is an active interest in the selling of these stamps and the good that will come cannot be estimated.

On all the mail you send every penny helps the fight.

The drive of White Plague to end by a definite announcement will be made late of how and where the stamps may be obtained. The stamps generally will handle them and the people universally in Connellsville will show their humanitarian progressiveness by using them.

THE SOISSON.

"The High Rollers"

It is claimed that in the point of the "High Rollers" business, which comes to the Soisson theatre Tuesday night, Dec. 6, is entitled to much praise. "There are two scenes used in the entertainment, the palace of Boscovia and the world-famed Luna park.

They are exceptionally well painted, and the pictures presented, with many richly dressed women on the stage, is one of considerable interest. It will be noticed that in the combination of roles of various acts there is an absence of these units that usually mark similar productions. The Merry

Kiddo and the Widow and "The Merry Widow of London Park," bitable much of the plot, and from all reports and the cleverest and best comedy is seen here. They are filled to the brim with amusing incidents, all of which are essentially modern, whimsical and witty, has the catchiest music, the prettiest girls, handsomest costumes and the most brilliant ensemble. That the patrons of the Soisson theatre will enjoy them is one of the surest prophecies made in some time.

MARK TWAIN

A NEW EDITION

AT 1/2 PRICE

Now for the first time you get a complete set of all Mark Twain's writings at just exactly one-half the price they have ever been sold before. This is a new edition, just as complete as the old one, which still sells, by the way, at $50.00. This new edition is only $25.00—for the 25 volumes.

It had been Mark Twain's ambition to have his books in every American home, and he made a great personal sacrifice to bring about this remarkable opportunity—for the first time in the history of publishing copyrighted books are sold at the price of non-copyrighted books—the chance will not come again.

But for Mark Twain's action this would have been impossible. Never before has a copyrighted library set of a standard author's works been issued at such a low figure.

Here's proof of what Pudd'nhead says:

"I used Pudd'nhead's and found it very successful. It removes dandruff and gives the hair life. I only used two bottles. I know it is a cure for dandruff."

Large bottles 50 cents. A. A. Clarke and druggists everywhere. The girl with the ribbon hat is on every carton.
